

American Standard Telecaster

This is an American Standard Telecaster, not the entry level American made-to-a-price “Highway One” series with less robust finish and hardware. The American Standard Telecaster is distinguished from the other Telecasters marketed by Fender that are made in Mexico (Mexican Fenders) or Asia (Squiers). The American Standard epitomises American craftsmanship and attention to detail including quality hardware for playability, steadfast tuning and perfect intonation.

According to Fender USA production records, this American Standard Telecaster serial number Z1021151 was manufactured in 2002. A decade has passed and there have been no requirements for any adjustments or repair. The settings on the instrument are pretty much as it left the factory 10 years ago.

The “Tele” is Tommy Emmanuel’s electric guitar of choice when not playing Maton acoustics. He autographed the guitar on 19 April 2003 when he performed at Twin Towns that evening. The designation “CGP” stands for Certified Guitar Player, an award conferred exclusively by the late Chet Atkins during his lifetime. Including Chet, there are only 5 CGP’s.
